

Beaver Dam close to creating storm water utility (Daily Citizen)

Contributed by
Saturday, 17 November 2007
Last Updated Saturday, 01 December 2007

State-imposed tax levy limits have forced many Wisconsin municipalities to change the way they do business. In 2008, city of Beaver Dam residents may notice one such change on their utility bill. With city budgets tightening and Department of Natural Resources pressure to comply with clean water initiatives continuing, a growing number of communities are beginning to form storm water utilities. ...

State-imposed tax levy limits have forced many Wisconsin municipalities to change the way they do business. In 2008, city of Beaver Dam residents may notice one such change on their utility bill. With city budgets tightening and Department of Natural Resources pressure to comply with clean water initiatives continuing, a growing number of communities are beginning to form storm water utilities. ...

Read more at:

http://us.rd.yahoo.com/dailynews/rss/search/street+sweepers/SIG=11n6sqi06/*http%3A//wiscnews.com/bdc/news//index.php?ntid=257442.